DIPLOMAS TO CLASS OF '15 NEWARK HIGH

Ninety-Seven Young Men And Women Complete Twelve Years' Work

SEVEN GRADUATES DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ORATIONS

NEXT TO LARGEST CLASS

In the History of Newark Schools—President of Board of Education, William C. Christian's Address to Pupils Read By Superintendent Wilson Hawkins.

Ninety-seven members of the senior class of the Newark public schools were graduated last evening and received diplomas from the board of education, the commencement exercises being held in the auditorium of the high school building.

The weather was most appropriate for the occasion, the auditorium being cool and exceptionally comfortable for this season of the year. Nearly every seat was occupied both in the balcony and on the lower floor. A little delay in starting the program was caused by late comers, it being desired to seat everyone so that there might be no confusion.

The curtain was raised at 8:15 o'clock and it found the class seated on five tiers of seats, the ninety-seven members wearing caps and gowns. Superintendent Wilson Hawkins, Principal Oren J. Barnes, Hon. W. E. Miller, James K. Dewey, S. W. Haight and Dr. W. C. Rank, the last four, members of the board of education, marched upon the stage and took seats to the left.

The stage was nicely decorated with palms and roses, a string of the latter reaching entirely along the footlights while the piano top in the pit was also covered with roses, a huge bouquet of them being the centerpiece. A large American flag stood at each side and to the front of the stage. There were no other decorations.

This year's class was the second largest to graduate in the history of the school last year being the largest, when 107 students received diplomas. Eight representatives of the class of '15 were selected to deliver orations. The boy and girl receiving the highest averages for the four years, automatically, Ruth Hirst and Robert Wilkin were two of the speakers, and the faculty selected three and the class three. They were Raymond Crawford, Ruth Phillips, Lon Ella Hawkins, Esther Robinson, Wilson Irwin and Olive Baughman, the latter rendering in place of an oration a difficult and enjoyable piano solo.

The high school orchestra participated in the program and their numbers were all enjoyable, the musicians assisting in making the evening one of pleasure to all present. They were under the direction of Prof. C. W. Klopp, supervisor of music. The piano accompanist was also present.

TO INITIATE STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

First Batch of Petitions For Such an Amendment Has Reached Headquarters

OF THE ANTI SALOON LEAGUE FROM FAIRFIELD COUNTY

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN LATE

But Within a Few Weeks Will Be Prosecuted Vigorously—Question of Calling Referendum On McDermott Decentralizing Bill Not Yet Determined—Bitter Fight Expected.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, June 11.—The first batch of petitions to initiate a state-wide prohibition amendment reaching headquarters of the anti-saloon league here today from Fairfield county, showed the names of five hundred persons who voted against prohibition last year, according to a report of the anti-saloon organization in that county. The total number of signatures on the petitions were 3,520, compared with 1,600 signers to a similar document last year, it was said. On such predicted results as this, the prohibition forces based their statement that the prohibition amendment would carry when submitted to the voters this fall.

Warner B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the anti-saloon league said today all petitions for the amendment will be filed with the secretary of state about July 1 and that thereafter the dry organization over the state will devote all its time to agitation in behalf of prohibition. Reports that if no referendum is called by liquor interests on the McDermott bill to change the present system of administering saloon licenses, the anti-liquor forces will withdraw their petitions for prohibition, were denied emphatically by Superintendent Wheeler.

The campaign of liberal forces against prohibition, although later in starting than that of the anti-saloon league, will be prosecuted vigorously within a few weeks, it was said by liberal leaders here today. The principal question yet to be determined by them is whether a referendum shall be called on the McDermott bill, and this will be decided at a state joint conference of liberal organizations, probably next week.

Although definite plans for the anti-prohibition campaign have not been developed, it is said liberals will organize numerous industries and businesses which would be affected directly by total prohibition of the liquor traffic, and through these the arguments against the proposed amendment will be given to the public.

Petitions will be circulated soon for referendum on legislative measures which the Democratic state executive and central committees desire.

No Referendums Will be Called By Democrats On Legislation Passed by Republican Assembly

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, June 11.—No referendums will be called on legislation of the Republican legislature by the Democratic organization this fall, according to opinion expressed by a majority of the Democratic central and executive committees who met here today to decide that question. Those who took this attitude included most of the influential party leaders.

They defined their position in a statement which declared that the initiative and referendum is a political instrument which should not be used by partisan organizations lest it lose its effectiveness. People of Ohio are weary of voting on legislative questions and hearing these discussed, the statement added and this is an added reason why the Democratic party should not throw any laws into the fall elections to ascertain the popular attitude on them.

The "destructive action" of the Republican legislature was declared, but no specific reference to alleged bad laws was made. It was pointed out that this would leave the party free to make its campaign platform in 1916.

Influential leaders in the party had indicated before today that the only questions on which the referendum might be called were the Sprague congressional redistricting bill and the Delawitt measure which would place national and state tickets on the same ballot. It was said today, however, with the arrival of committee members from over the state, that citizens are displaying little vital interest in these bills. It was pointed out, that their significance lies mainly in a question of partisan advantages and that the people are not anxious for such a question to be fought out in the fall elections.

A movement was started for the election of Edward H. Moore, of Youngstown, to succeed E. G. Hanley, of Dayton, deceased, as chairman of the central committee, but it was said to be highly probable that W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, vice chairman would be allowed to remain head of the committee without further action. Clarence Greer, of Dayton, newly elected chairman of the Montgomery county committee to succeed Hanley, although prevented from attending the meeting by illness, probably would be elected member of the central committee, it was said.

Senator Pomerene attended the meeting of the Democratic committees and advised them concerning the referendums.

Bryan Shifts Blame For Expecting Warlike Note Upon the "Jingo" Editors

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Washington, June 11.—Former Secretary Bryan today issued a statement, expressing his gratification over what he termed a change in the tone of the press regarding the American note to Germany. The statement follows:

"I am glad to note the change in the tone of the press in regard to the note to Germany. From the time the papers began to publish forecasts down to yesterday, the jingo editors have been predicting that the matter would be dealt with, with 'great firmness'; that Germany would be told that there must be no more delay in the acceptance of this country's demands, etc."

"Instead of waiting until the note was issued, they put their own construction upon it in advance and colored it to suit their own purposes. It is as a relief to find the papers now emphasizing the friendly tone of the note and pointing out that it does not necessarily mean war."

"Something has been gained if the warrior journalists at last realize that the country does not want war, but that, on the contrary, it will support the president in his efforts to find a peaceful solution of the difficult problem raised by the use of the submarine against merchantmen."

The former secretary, giving out his formal statement, supplemented it with the following anecdote: "A congressman replying to a jingo speech, recently said: 'While I am personally against war, I am in favor of the country having what it wants. If the country wants war, let it have war, but let it first find out if the country does want war. If it becomes necessary to ascertain the sentiment of the country I suggest that a ballot be taken: let those who want war vote for war, and those opposed to war vote against it and let the vote be taken with the understanding that those who vote for war will enlist for war and that those who vote against war will not be called upon until after those who want war have exhausted their efforts.'"

"I still believe," added Mr. Bryan, "in the right of the people to rule and think the congressional suggestion might insure deliberate action on the part of the voters."

AMERICANIZATION OF FOREIGNERS TO BE A FOURTH OF JULY TASK

[Associated Press Telegram] Washington, June 11.—Americanization day, a day for strengthening the American spirit of nationality and uniting all classes, creeds and races into one intelligent democracy, is being urged by Federal Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, on the municipal and educational officials throughout the country for celebration on July 4th.

New York and St. Louis through their public schools have planned a special civic lesson on flag day, June 14.

GERMAN NOTE NOT WARLIKE, SAYS WILLIS

OHIO'S GOVERNOR GIVES UNSTATED SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT WILSON'S POSITION.

"A Sincere Conviction of a Nation Dedicated to Peace With Honor," Is His Statement.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, June 11.—The note of the American government to the German imperial government will not lead to war," said Governor Willis, in a statement issued today. "It is the sincere, profound conviction of a nation dedicated to peace with honor."

The governor expressed the belief that the United States may be able to bring about a cessation of hostilities in the present European war as it did in the Russo-Japanese war, "if our people keep cool and do not lose their heads."

"The note is couched in friendly terms," the governor added, "but states clearly and firmly the determination of the American government that neutral rights shall be preserved and respected by all the European belligerents and that American citizens shall be protected wherever under international law they have a right to be."

"The president's note asserts strongly that our government performed its full duty as a neutral in issuing clearance papers to the Lusitania as a merchantman; yet the German imperial government is urged to produce whatever evidence it may have to the contrary. This is an appeal to reason and not to passion. Furthermore the tender of the good offices of the government of the United States to the governments of Germany and Great Britain in an effort to change the character and condition of war upon the sea is a harbinger of peace."

"Our government was instrumental in bringing about a cessation of hostilities in the Russo-Japanese war. It is not too much to suppose that it may exercise a like pacific influence in the present deplorable conflict. In my judgment, if our people keep cool and do not lose their heads, this can be accomplished. American rights will be preserved, warfare on the sea can be rendered less inhuman and a lasting victory won for peace. This note of firm determination does not mean war. It is the sincere, profound conviction of a nation dedicated to peace with honor."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Hamilton, O., June 11.—Edgar Grant Hauck, 21, died at his home, 220 South C street today of hydrophobia, resulting from the bite of a dog received last February. Hauck was attempting to feed the dog which turned on him and bit him in the left hand.

YOUNG MAN DEAD OF HYDROPHOBIA AT HAMILTON, O.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Berlin, June 11.—A dispatch received here today by wireless telegraph from Constantinople, reports that fighting at Avi Burnu, on the Gallipoli peninsula, during the night of June 5-6, cost the French and British forces more than 2000 men killed. The losses of the Franco-British expedition all last week, the message adds, were enormous.

FRENCH AND BRITISH LOSE MORE THAN 2000

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Berlin, June 11.—Via London.—Ambassador Gerard presented the American note at the German foreign office at 1:10 p. m. today.

The American note though printed in full and given the gravest prominence in the Berlin newspapers, was not accompanied by editorial comment in the editions appearing up to 3 o'clock.

The headlines of the newspapers varied in wording but were similar in tone.

Among the captions were "America stands firm," "A very solemn warning," "A grave American warning to Germany," and "A grave appeal."

ADVANCE OF GERMANS IS NOW CURBED

Believe British Observers From the Latest Dispatches from Petrograd

RUSSIA HAS DELIVERED A HARD RETURN BLOW

FLINGING BACK ENEMY

Who Had Crossed the Dniester River, Leaving Lemberg Safe for the Time Being—Italians Are Now Less Than Twenty Miles From Trieste—Latest News of War.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] London, June 11.—British observers of the war, forming their opinions on the latest dispatches from Russia, believe that the Austro-German forces threatening Lemberg from the southeast have been checked in their advance. Russia, they declare, has delivered a return blow and a hard one. The great masses of German and Austrian troops which forced a passage of the Dniester river, near Zorawna, according to the latest announcement of the Russian war office, have been flung back with heavy losses in both men and material.

Thus for the moment Lemberg is thought to be safe, for nowhere else along the Galician front have the Teutonic allies been making progress recently, with the exception of course, of their southern extension into Bukovina.

News was received yesterday that Russian reinforcements were moving south along the Dniester river from Mikolaiow to Rohatyn, but it was hardly expected here that they would achieve such quick results.

If this victory had been decisive, it is the first real check delivered by the Russians since the start of the new Austro-German rush through Galicia. Here it is characterized as giving renewed faith to Great Britain and France to the recuperative powers of Russian arms.

Nothing new has been heard in London concerning the fighting in the Baltic provinces.

The Italians are now less than 20 miles from Trieste, the chief port of Austria.

On the western front, the methodical French advance would appear for the moment to have ceased. But on the other hand, the German counter attacks do not seem to have been successful.

Innesbruck, June 11.—(By courier to the Swiss frontier and Geneva).—and Paris, June 11.—Announcement has been made here by the Austrians that one of their British cruisers yesterday sank a British cruiser of the Liverpool type at a point 30 miles off St. Jean Medua, in the Adriatic.

RUSSIAN BARK TORPEDOED. London, June 11.—The Russian bark Thomasina has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off the Southwest coast of Ireland. The members of the crew of the sailing ship have been landed at Queenstown.

STEAMSHIP SUNK WITHOUT A WARNING. Cardiff, Via London, June 11.—The Glasgow steamship Strathcarron was torpedoed yesterday without warning by a German submarine, while outward bound from Barry. The crew, which put off in boats, was rescued by a steamer and landed here.

The Strathcarron was a vessel of 2,807 tons, built in 1912 at Greenock and was owned by the Strathcarron Steamship company of Glasgow. She sailed from Havre, May 28, for Barry, where she arrived June 2 and was reported to have entered the government service.

ZEPPELIN SINKS 2 FISHING SMACKS

Maasluits, Holland, June 10.—Via London June 11.—The British fishing smacks Welfare and Laurestina were attacked and sunk by Zeppelins in the North Sea. The crews which took to their boats were picked up by a Dutch smack and brought here.

RUSSIAN CREW IS SAVED FROM SHIP

London, June 11.—The Russian steamer Dania has been torpedoed by a German submarine. The members of the crew were saved.

SWEDISH STEAMER AMONG THOSE SUNK

London, June 11.—The Swedish steamer Ottago, bound for Hull, was torpedoed and sunk last night.

President In Friendly but Unmistakable Terms Insists the German Government Must Respect the Rights of Americans textually the following note to the minister of foreign affairs:

"In compliance with Your Excellency's request, I did not fail to transmit to your government immediately upon their receipt your note of May 28 in reply to my note of May 15, and your supplementary note of June 1, setting forth the conclusions so far as reached by the imperial German government concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Gulfight. I am now instructed by my government to communicate the following in reply:

"The government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the imperial German government, in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Gulfight, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships and the frank willingness of the imperial German government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships which have not been guilty of any hostile act, by German air craft or vessels of war is satisfactorily established, and the government of the United States will in due course lay before the imperial German government, as it requests, full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

"With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba, by which an American citizen lost his life, the government of the United States is surprised to find the imperial German government contending that an effort on the part of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect of the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel has ceased her attempt to escape when torpedoed.

"These are not new circumstances. They have been in the minds of statesmen and of international jurists throughout the development of naval warfare, and the government of the United States does not understand that they have ever been held to alter the principles of humanity upon which it has insisted. Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight

MARION AND CANTON CLUBS ARE DISBANDED

Following the departure of Dr. Leon Van Horn from Marion yesterday, the club representing that city in the Ohio State league and the Canton club which has also been having its troubles, have disbanded and the league reduced to a four club circuit.

This announcement was made by the local management today after telephone communication with Findlay and Lima.

The disbanded of the Canton club eliminated it as the attraction here Saturday and Sunday. Akron was due to play in Marion so it was an easy matter to arrange a series of games with Akron for Saturday and Sunday.

In announcing the change, the local management declared that the withdrawal of the two clubs left the league in a stronger condition than before. Lima, Findlay, Akron and Newark expect to finish.

A meeting of the league magnates probably will be held at Akron next Monday where the Newark club is scheduled to play. At that time playing dates will be changed and a three game series will replace the present two game plan.

RAIN PREVENTS TODAY'S GAME AT WEHRLE PARK

Because of the heavy rain which fell shortly before noon today it was found necessary to postpone today's game between Newark and Akron on account of wet grounds. Wehrle Park has received much rain in the past week and the ground is so thoroughly soaked that it didn't take much rain to put the diamond in condition which would make play impossible. Akron will play here Saturday.

AKRON HERE FOR SATURDAY AND SUNDAY GAMES

Because of the shakedown in the league, Akron takes Canton's place for the games scheduled here for Saturday and Sunday. Saturday is a special day for the kids, all having been invited by the management to attend the week end matinee. Sunday the Akron club will play Newark at Wehrle park. Both games will be started at 3 o'clock.

Flag Tournament For Golfers at The Country Club

Golfers of the Country Club Thursday afternoon took part in a flag tournament on the club course. Dr. Hundley of Granville finishing on the ninth green with 86 strokes, George Graesser finished in eighth hole with 92 strokes, D. R. Manning finished in the eighth hole with 83 strokes. Dr. Hundley was awarded first prize while Mr. Graesser and Mr. Manning tied for second place. Medal play for team positions was started Thursday and will be continued until next Wednesday night.

COMMENCEMENT OF ST. FRANCIS DE SALES

The graduating exercises of the class of 1915 of the St. Francis de Sales High school will be held in St. Francis de Sales church on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The school has the largest class which has graduated from there for several years, the successful students numbering fourteen. Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan, pastor of the church and superintendent of the school will deliver the address and present the diplomas.

SHRINER MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the Shriner of the city at the Masonic temple at 7:00 o'clock on next Monday evening. All Shriners who are interested in the success of the Patrol which will present Aladdin's Lamp at the Auditorium on the evening of June 24, (Dedication Day) are urged to be present.

Gallipoli is the door through which in 1915 the Turks first entered into their European possessions. And the entrance came about in a surprising manner. In that year an earthquake shattered all the cities of Thrace and overthrew the walls of Gallipoli. The inhabitants fled, while the Turks, for whom earthquakes had no terror, crossed the Hellespont and marched upon the deserted city. Emperor Constantine protested, but Sultan Orkhan calmly replied that "Providence had opened a way to his troops, and he could not disregard so clear an indication of divine interposition." Thus was taken the first plunge that kept the near east bathed in blood for centuries.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

Please tell me how to prevent water leaking out of the grease cups at either side of the water pump?

You are using too light a grease in these grease cups, with the result that when the motor gets warm the grease becomes very fluid and allows the water to leak. In hot weather you should use a heavy grease. Probably the hardest that you can buy will be the most satisfactory. However, as soon as cold weather sets in substitute a lighter grease.

On my car a universal joint is used between engine and transmission, this universal consisting of a cross floating in the yokes of clutch and shaft. The assembly, unless kept carefully adjusted, is noisy and does not retain oil for any length of time. Could I substitute a leather universal?

The joint between the engine and gear box is designed to take up any misalignment between the clutch and the gear shift, but it often happens that the gear box drops, throwing the shaft out of alignment to such an extent that the drive becomes noisy, and this is probably the cause of your trouble.

It is doubtful if the fitting of a leather universal would be wise, because, although it would silence the drive, it would take care of the misalignment, the noise which shows that there is a faulty alignment would be gone, and there would be no warning to enable you to know when to correct this. It occasionally happens that a sudden jolt will cause a drop in the level of the gear box due to a looseness in the bolts which hold it in position. This can be remedied by restoring the gear box to its proper alignment.

It is also very probable that the rear axle gears are badly out of adjustment and that the vibration produced as a result of this is transmitted to the joint between the engine and gear box and given off at that point. You should not only have the engine and gear set aligned, but also have the rear axle inspected and the gears readjusted, should it be necessary.

I change the oil in my crank case about every 500 or 600 miles. Would the oil I take out be all right to use in the transmission or would it wear the gears?

It is a good idea to use the oil from the crank case in the gear box. After use for considerable time in the motor the oil takes on a gummy consistency, which renders it unfit for good motor lubrication, but good for use in lubricating the gears in the gear box on account of its tendency to adhere to the gear teeth. It is better to strain it for use in the gear box.

My motor heats too much and the thermo-siphon system does not do its work properly or the heating is caused by another source. I believe my carburetor is adjusted properly, there is no slipping fan belt or loss of compression, but still the engine overheats. As the car has not been run over 3,000 miles the carbon cannot be the cause. Can you explain this?

It is most likely that your trouble is due to driving with the spark retarded too far, although it is impossible to say with certainty that this is so. Try driving your car with the spark advanced as far as possible at all times without the motor knocking.

There are many other things that might cause your motor to overheat, however—carbonized cylinders, poor water circulation, incorrect timing of motor, dragging brakes or possibly excessive friction. Just as you state, it is not likely that the trouble is caused by carbon, but in looking for the cause it is not wise to neglect this possibility, for the reason that motor troubles are often caused by the most unexpected circumstances. Note whether the water is circulating freely, and if not try to find where the trouble is, whether it is due to dirt, loose pieces of rubber obstructing the passages or what not. Remember that with a thermo-siphon system the water will not circulate at all as soon as the level drops below the discharge header in the top of the radiator. Circulation of water in the thermo-siphon system is dependent on the fact that the column of water, considered as such for simplicity, in the pipes and water jackets is lighter than the column in the radiator because it is warmer, and water expands and grows lighter as it is warmed. Therefore if the level of water drops below the outlet pipe circulation must stop. It is well to note whether you have not been running with the water below this point. Or it is possible that you have a slow leak and that in the course of an afternoon enough water leaks out to lower the level enough to stop the circulation, as described.

If there is dirt in the radiator flush it out thoroughly, and if there is any grease in the water wash it with a hot solution of sodium carbonate in water, one handful of carbonate to a pail of water. See that the radiator hose connections are in good condition.

As a last resort check up on the timing by the marks on the flywheel, and if there are no marks you had better write to the maker for information on this point.

My car used to make about eighteen miles per gallon of gasoline. This year it is not making over eight. It misses until speed gets up to ten or twelve miles per hour. When the engine becomes heated the spark lever works very badly. What is the cause of this?

Since your car misses only at speeds below twelve miles per hour and then only when warmed up, it seems likely that the heat causes a slight leakage either by warping a valve or by expanding a valve stem. Test the compression when the motor is warm, and if any cylinder is weak see whether it is not due to lack of clearance between valves and push rods or to a warped valve. These defects would cause enough leakage to make the motor miss fire when the throttle is nearly closed, but yet not enough to make it miss at wider throttle openings.

Faulty carburetion may also be the cause of the misfiring. Reduce the richness of the mixture when running slowly and see if this makes any difference. It is possible that the reduction in charge weight caused by the heating of the air is sufficient to decrease the ratio of air to gasoline enough to prevent combustion, although when the motor is cold enough air is taken in so that the motor will run all right.

Another possibility is that there is a leak in the intake manifold due to its warping out of shape when heated. Tighten up bolts holding the manifold, and if necessary put in new gaskets. See that the brakes are not dragging and that the spark advance has not slipped so that you are running with it retarded.

Why are so many manufacturers doing away with radius rods?

The principal reason for discarding the radius rods is simplicity. It is obvious that when the drive is taken directly by the springs the manufacturer has saved on the cost of production and also reduced the number of wearing parts. Many manufacturers believe that the drive can be just as successfully transmitted through the springs as through radius rods, but as both constructions are widely used it is difficult to say which is better.

Is it easier to pump up a tire with the wheel jacked up when the weight of the car is resting on the wheel?

Theoretically it is slightly easier to pump up a tire when the weight is removed, but the difference is so small that it is doubtful whether any ordinary gauge would measure it. The extra work required represents the amount of work to lift the weight on that wheel through the distance that the inflated tire lifts the rim off the ground, this distance being approximately three inches. But this is divided up among so many pump strokes that the extra work is not felt, and it is probably just as economical of energy to do it this way as to jack the wheel up.

What are the specific advantages of six cylinder over four cylinder motors?

The advantage of greatest importance is that the six has a more even torque, or turning effort, than the four, because there are three explosions to each revolution against two per revolution in the four. The average six will throttle lower than a four of the same size.

Kindly inform me how to determine when the front wheels are out of alignment, and how can I straighten them?

The alignment of the front wheels can easily be determined by measurement. With the wheels pointing approximately straight, measure the distance between the two wheels, at the front and rear. They should be one-quarter inch nearer at the front, but not any more. The adjustment is made by shortening or lengthening the tie rod.

Please tell me how to place old shoes over new, and is it a practical thing to do?

To use the old tires do not cut the tread off. You have to take the casing off the wheel and force it into the old casing and then apply both to the wheel at once. Many claim this gives a practically puncture proof tire and one that lasts longer than the single shoe. It is desirable to have good inner tubes on account of its being too much trouble in changing in case an old tube gives way. So far as heat and sand are concerned, many claim they do not seem to amount to anything, though others declare they render the idea impractical. The old casing is supposed to fit so tightly over the good one that there is no slippage, and it protects the good tire from road heat. Some drivers, however, cut slits in old casings around the whole tread from head to head. They say it makes them easier to apply as well as to allow ventilation. These slits are cut about every four inches and about one-half inch of the material taken out. Authorities disagree on the practicality of the scheme of using old shoes in this way, but individual cases seem to have been satisfactory or the reverse according to the conditions and the intelligence used in applying the old shoes.

TIME LIMIT ON NOMINATIONS EXPIRES TONIGHT

Tonight at 9 o'clock will be the time limit for the filing of nominating petitions for the primaries which are to be held on Tuesday, August 11.

Clerk Michael Sachs of the deputy board of supervisors has not compiled the list of those petitions which he had received up until noon today and will not do so until after all the petitions are in tonight.

It is known, however, from petitions that are in circulation that there will be six candidates for the Democratic nomination for mayor, Marion F. Swan, Charles D. Lake, McClelland Mossman, Frank E. Slabaugh, William Stewart and Robert Roessel.

Two petitions for the Republican nomination for mayor were also circulated, that of the present incumbent, R. C. Biscoe and Willis D. Reichard of South Fifth street.

There are also a number of petitions in circulation for city auditor, city solicitor, city treasurer, president of the council, three councilmen at large, six ward councilmen and six ward assessors.

SQUIGGINS IS AGAIN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Ray F. Squiggins who has been arrested several times for stealing automobiles, was taken into custody yesterday on a charge of stealing the automobile from Zanesville which was recovered by the local police Tuesday. He probably will be taken to Zanesville to answer to the charge. Squiggins evaded arrest by abandoning the machine when Motor Cop Richter came upon him enroute from Zanesville to Newark. The machine has been returned to the owner, George Wilcox.

UNPRECEDENTED EVENT WILL BE THE DEDICATION

Indications are that the event of the dedication of the Masonic Temple on June 24 will be unprecedented. A Newark man, while in Columbus on Thursday visited the M. C. Lilley & Co., and while there was informed that Knights Templar from various parts of the state were ordering uniforms and all were requesting that they be delivered before June 24. This is indicative that plans are being made over the entire state for a mammoth turn out here for the dedication.

London's Bridges.

At a time when the population of London was well over a million and her houses lay for miles on each side of the river she was apparently well content with her one London bridge. At length in 1734 Westminster was seized with the desire to have a bridge of her own. Application was made to parliament for powers, only to encounter the fiercest opposition from the city, the 40,000 watermen, the inhabitants of Southwark and the west country bagmen, all of whom implored the commons to protect them against this new enemy. The result was that the bridge was not built till 1750. Blackfriars, at first called Pitt's bridge, was finished in 1769 at a cost of £260,000, defrayed by tolls. Waterloo was opened on the second anniversary of the famous battle with great pomp by the prince regent in person, accompanied by his royal brother, the Duke of York, the Duke of Wellington and many distinguished people.—London Answers.

"No Quarter Given"

"It is forbidden to declare that no quarter shall be given." So say the Hague regulations. That is a more modern rule than you would think. The Duke of Wellington said that he understood that the defenders of a fortress taken by storm had no right to quarter, although he himself did not, as a rule, adopt such a cruel practice. A century ago, when a feeble garrison stubbornly held out in a feebly fortified place against a force manifestly superior and apparently able to take it eventually, it was usually refused quarter. There was an attempt to justify the refusal by a doctrine of "futile resistance"—that he who uselessly resisted and caused assaulting or besieging forces unnecessary loss of life did not deserve to have his own life spared. But that doctrine has been rejected. Carried to its logical conclusion it would mean that every member of a weaker force in any kind of armed contest could be killed.—William M. Collier in Forum.

A Troublesome Cargo.

"An elephant's shoulder is never still" is a Hindu saying with reference to the restlessness of the animal. An Englishman tells how the elephant's passion for moving about once came near wrecking a ship.

A number of elephants were taken on board a vessel at Calcutta, and the steamer went down the Hooghly river. At night it anchored off Sangor point. The sea was as still as oil, but the ship rolled so much that she was in danger of going over. The elephants had found that by swaying to and fro all together they could produce a pleasant rocking motion. As the ship had no other cargo and rode light the captain was much frightened. The mahouts, or keepers, were hurried down into the hold, and each one, seated on his own beast, made him "break step," but they had to stay there for a long time.

Did Annapolis Middies Commit Burglary?

REAR ADMIRAL W.F. FULLAM

CAPTAIN ROBERT L. RUSSELL

Rear Admiral William F. Fullam, superintendent of the naval academy at Annapolis, has brought serious charges against cadets of the academy in connection with the "burgling" of examination papers there recently. The scandal has grown to such proportions that a military court, of which Captain Robert L. Russell is the president, is making an investigation.

Among the charges of the superintendent was one that an attempt to break into desks of professors had been made. Some one got copies of examination papers for all four classes which have just taken their examinations, and passed them around. At this time members of the graduating class who passed are already in the American navy as ensigns. Three students have been dismissed in connection with the charges, and seven more were placed under arrest.

Rear Admiral Fullam was graduated from the academy in 1877 at the head of his class and has had 20 years of sea duty, besides serving for some time as an instructor at Annapolis. During the Spanish-American war he was watch officer on board the U. S. S. New Orleans on the occasion of the blockade and bombardment of Santiago.

Mr. Bryan's Blunder.

Hundreds of thousands of the devoted followers of William J. Bryan in the years that are past are surprised that in a time of crisis his judgment should have gone hopelessly wrong. The President of the United States is the responsible head of all executive departments. The people know that the final responsibility rests upon Woodrow Wilson in our present relations with foreign powers and no President of the United States in a generation has won the whole-hearted confidence of so large a proportion of American citizens, without regard to party, as has Woodrow Wilson.

As between the President and a Secretary who chooses to embarrass him by resigning and attacking his policies at a time of crisis in foreign relations, the judgment, the sympathy and the active support of the great mass of American citizens will go unhesitatingly with the President. To cause friction in the cabinet, to resign at such a time of crisis, to rush into print with columns of self-justification and of attack upon the foreign policy of the country, to use in such an attack information that came to him in confidence in private cabinet discussion—all this betrays such a lack of due sense of propriety and public duty as has had no parallel in our history.

Mr. Bryan expresses his intention to make a fight against the President's policy through the Chautauqua lecture platforms. The managers of Chautauqua circuits will do well to consider whether they can wisely open their platforms to a campaign against the President of the United States at such a time as this. The people of this country are perfectly aware that Mr. Bryan is no more a friend of peace than President Wilson, that he is no more averse to a war with Germany or any other country than is President Wilson. And they will trust his wisdom to avert war if humanly possible as they will not trust that of William J. Bryan, after his amazing blunder of the past few days.

To the list of "highly paid appointees" who have advanced in service and pay is added the name of Lester H. Ivins, agricultural inspector recently legislated out of office in Ohio. From this state at $2000 a year, he has been selected by the federal government as specialist in home and school gardening at $3600 per year, and selection was made from among applicants in many states.

Announcements
Of Candidates
For City Offices.

The primary election under the provisions of the law will be held in the city of Newark on Tuesday, August 10, 1915, each political party holding its primary for the nomination of candidates on the same day under the control of the Deputy supervisors of elections.

Candidates will be nominated for the office of Mayor of Newark, City Auditor, President of the City Council, City Solicitor, City Treasurer, City Councilmen and assessors.

The Advocate beginning tomorrow, June 12th will publish the names of candidates as same may be ordered. The names will be printed as heretofore and according to long established custom the fee of $2 is payable at the time the name is announced.

The publication will simply consist of the names of the candidates and the offices which they seek under an explanatory heading.

Europe's Slaughter Lists.

(New York World.)

From April 15 to May 31 the total British casualties since the beginning of the war, according to official statements to the House of Commons, increased from 139,347 to 275,059, or 85 per cent, in seven weeks. This period covers the Battle of Ypres and operations at the Dardanelles.

Considering the size of the British land forces that have been engaged, over a quarter of a million men represent very severe losses. It is significant that the casualties include one officer to every twenty-five men of other ranks. This is a form of depreciation that tells very sharply against an army of volunteers like Great Britain's. Its regular army was very small, and by this time has largely melted away. To fit officers for service in leading troops in the field is a far slower process than whipping recruits into shape.

What figures the French losses have reached is not known, although it is reported that their hospitals hold never less than 250,000. Germany has lost probably close to 2,225,000. When the final reckoning is made, it will show a slaughter to blacken forever the history of civilization.

Stick to Your Own Game.

An offer of $10,000,000 was once made to August Heineke for his copper mines. His estate has now been inventoried at less than $1,500,000. Heineke knew copper in Montana but he didn't understand copper stocks in Wall street. He refused to stick to the game he had learned in the far West and ventured upon the tempestuous struggle in the East with results that paralleled disastrously the experiences of other magnates. So "Jim" Keene had piled up a fortune in California of several millions made in mining stocks during the Comstock boom and lost it in less than a year when he tried to play the bigger game with Jay Gould.

The world is fairly crowded with men who refuse to cling to the games they know and launch upon enterprises that look easy but which they pay dear to learn. A Collins, a Cobb or a Baker, who are stars in the baseball diamond, would scarcely shine in a boat, while a Nickalls himself at the oars would probably be a poor substitute in a bush league baseball team. One game, well played, is worth more to a man than a half dozen done indifferently.

Newark Merchants.

The automobile trip taken yesterday by thirty representatives of the Newark Merchant's Association to Granville, Alexandria, Johnstown and Croton was an unqualified success.

Every where along the route the Newark men were cordially greeted and courteously received. The banners upon the cars: "Buy in Licking County," "Boost Licking County," "We Want to Meet You," as well as the literature put out by the Merchants Association indicated that it was a county wide movement, organized to create greater interest in home institutions and to bring to the attention of the people of this county the fact that Newark offers trade advantages better than those of distant cities. Cards passed out by the merchants read: "The Newark Merchants Association invites you to trade in Newark, guaranteeing prices to be as low as any city in America."

Several of the merchants distributed literature of their own along with the printed matter sent from the association. Thousands of people were seen and interviewed during the day and everywhere the Newark men were made to feel at home and were invited to return.

The association is planning to take a trip in another direction next Thursday to be followed by visits to every section of the county.

Instead of sending six automobiles not less than thirty machines should go.

The business men's organization of Hamilton sent out an automobile party of 32 machines the other day and LaPort, Ind., sent a delegation of more than 100 men in 25 automobiles.

Tips of this sort bring the city and country closer together. They make the people of the villages and the rural districts take a greater interest in the county seat and they bring to the attention of all the fact that Newark is a wideawake, hustling town that appreciates the business of the surrounding community and that it is amply able to take care of it.

When one spends money in his home county he shouts "I'll meet again!" but when the money is taken or sent to a distant city it sighs "Farewell forever."

America Behind Wilson.

It is Wilson not Bryan, who strikes the note today to which the hearts of the American people respond. In the support that has been rendered the President there is neither party nor section, class nor creed. East and west, north and south, it is universal and all embracing. At this crisis of our fortunes, in the presence of this menace to our happiness, our safety and our honor, even Mr. Bryan must share national aspiration, oppose resolutely every further invasion of our rights—or stand aside.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

Now Up To Governor.

Most people will be surprised and pained by the refusal of the State Pardon Board of Georgia to recommend a commutation of sentence in the case of Leo M. Frank, convicted of murder. There has been much unwise agitation in his behalf, but from first to last, in the efforts that have been made to save him from the gallows, one fact has stood out prominently and it should have been heeded. Frank was tried before a Judge who was not convinced of his guilt, who weakly refused to act upon his own judgment when a motion for a new trial was made, and who, on his death-bed a few months ago, wrote a letter to be used in the event of his demise, giving reasons for his doubts and urging clemency. To disregard such an appeal in a case that presented many dubious features is almost unprecedented.—New York World.

THE HESSIAN FLY.

Long years ago—twas when our sires struck for their altars and their fires, and Washington, that genius rare, had gonies crossed the Delaware, King George was short of fighting men, so he went hiring Hessians then. The Hessians, when they went to sea, to reach this country of the free, took straw aboard, and spread it deep, and on that straw they used to sleep.

And in the straw the Hessian flies laid their eggs, dad bust their eyes. And thus into the fertile west was brought the worst and fiercest, pest that ever made the farmers swear and chew their whiskers in despair. Year after year the Hessian fly camps in the wheat fields and the rye, performs its loathsome task it, hastes, and lays the smiling acres waste. The damage wrought since first it came would knock a statistician lame. The wheat it's killed in all those years would fatten both the hemispheres, and fill a million bins and cribs, or gonies who know are telling fibs. Thus war brings curses in its train, aside from all the toll of slain. War is a nuisance and a frost; no man can ever count its cost.

ALUMNI
HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET
JUNE 15.
Bronze Tablet, Will be Given High
School in Memory of the Late
Dr. J. C. Hartzler.

The coming banquet and annual meeting of the alumni of the Newark high school promises to be one of the most interesting events in the history of the organization. It will be held on next Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church at 6:30 prompt, when every member of the alumni is expected to be present and seated at the table ready for participation in the pleasures of the evening. A menu of choice dainties has been prepared which will satisfy the most epicurean appetite, and the program to follow will be one of rare merit and originality. The invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Charles Laughlin. The meeting will be presided over by Dr. E. V. Prior, president of the association who will deliver the welcome address and this will be succeeded by the nomination and election of officers. That important duty performed, a testimonial will be presented to the high school to the memory of one who has been instrumental in making successful the educational facilities of the city and under whose watchful care and able teaching hundreds of the youth of Newark have been started on their journey of life, some to high eminence while others have performed the humble duties of life in a manner befitting the teachings of him whom they desired to remember. This will be a bronze tablet to Superintendent J. C. Hartzler who was at the head of the schools here for nearly a quarter of a century. The tablet is inscribed "In Memoriam J. C. Hartzler, Superintendent Schools, 1871-1898." The presentation speech will be made by Charles L. Flory of the class of 1896, and the speech of acceptance will be made by W. C. Christian, president of the Board of Education. Following this Miss Marian Lumley will recite an original poem. The principal event of the evening will be the address by that ever popular speaker Dr. C. L. Williams of Granville, whose wit and humor always gives him an attentive and appreciative audience whenever he is billed to speak.

The evening's entertainment will close with a comedy stunt in which all present from the gray haired man whose mind will carry him back to the days of long ago when he was a callow freshman and his great ambition was to graduate and look down upon those coming after him, to the latest addition to the ranks of the association whose entrance into will be marked by the evening's festivities, will participate. It has been denominated "A Balloon Descent" and it is believed this will be the greatest fun making event ever pulled off in a public assembly. No one can afford to miss this finale of the evening.

Tickets may be procured at Public Library and the high school. It is desired that these be secured at the earliest possible hour that the committee may know how many to provide for.

There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. Those having the commencement in charge are to be congratulated upon the excellent manner in which its details were carried out and in bringing it to a conclusion at a seasonable hour, giving no opportunity for interest in the exercises to lag. RAYMOND CRAWMER.
The Cost of the War.

The great war now raging in Europe, in which over twelve million men are engaged in a deadly struggle, has aroused the sympathies of the Christian world. Many thousands have already been killed, while tens of thousands fill the hospitals to overflowing. It is the most stupendous conflict the world has ever witnessed. No calamity to equal it has ever befallen the human race. Neither Frederick the Great, nor Napoleon, in the wildest bursts of imagination, could have pictured the gigantic war plant now in use.

Let us look for a moment at the cost of this war in the light of dollars and cents. It has been conservatively estimated that it costs $2.50 per day to keep one soldier in the field. If this be the case, then the present war is costing 30 million dollars per day for soldiers expenses alone. It is also claimed that for six months of warfare, the warring nations have lost nearly eight billion dollars from the loss of non-production.

But we should not look at the cost of this gigantic struggle in the light of dollars and cents. There are other lessons far more important.

First, let us consider the loss to art and music. The sacking of Louvain, in which was the Cathedral of Malines, and the bombing of the Cathedral of Reims, lost to the world two of the best examples of Gothic architecture in Europe today. In the destruction of these cathedrals many priceless works of art were ruined. Chalapin, the great Russian basso, as well as all of his company, has gone to war. These great artists are but men and must serve their country without regard for their talents in their chosen professions. As great is the loss in the world of art, it seems to fade almost into insignificance when we think of the fate of the people who will survive this war. For days and weeks, in fact, for months, huge armies have huddled in their trenches, the strain never relaxing for a moment. This with the cold and hastily eaten meals has wrought havoc on the men's nerves. They have broken down from the strain. Their brains have given way. Devastated Europe left with a race of idiots—that is one of the hideous possibilities of this war.

Most appalling of all are the thousands of helpless widows and orphans, who have been deprived of their natural providers, their sons, husbands and brothers having perished in the struggle. Many of them are living in cellars and barns. War is inexorable. It demands not only the life of its victim on the field, but too often it involves the desolation of the victims' homes. The widows and orphans—the silent sufferers—are the victims most deserving of our sympathy.

Surely there ought to be some method of ending this gigantic struggle and of bringing about a lasting world's peace. As this great republic of ours is the greatest neutral power, we should take the initiative and propose some measure for securing peace. Let us take the plan of Dr. Church, president of Carnegie Institute, who said: "Let the neutral governments of North and South America join with those of Spain, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Switzerland in a mighty league of peace, to compel the warring nations to stop the conflict, and the guilty ones to pay due penalties. Such a league of peace, to be joined later by all the nations now at war, would forever end the encroachment of powerful states upon the weaker ones, and we would see human rights placed above the arrogance of nations."

And so if this great American republic of ours could bring about this universal peace we would have taken a step forward unsurpassed in the history of peace movements, and we would have come to the realization of that Biblical phrase, "And the people shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nations shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more," and then with the world at peace its people could look back with a shudder on the "cost of war."

RUTH PHILLIPS.
The Lincoln Highway.

Mr. Carl Fisher, a young business man of Indianapolis, like many thousands of other people who find pleasure in long-distance automobile tours, met the annoying circumstance of bad roads. Why not, thought Mr. Fisher, build a highway across the continent, connecting the Pacific and Atlantic. Thinking this plan over, he related it to other business men who immediately became interested. In March, 1913, an association was organized, money raised and work begun at once upon this thirty-four hundred mile road, passing from New York to California.

Of course this great highway must have a name. Some wanted to call it the Washington, others the Jefferson and still others National Highway but the name "The Lincoln Highway" was finally selected as Lincoln was better known to all and his name stands for nationality.

Not understanding how this wonderful thoroughfare could be successful without the help of the women, the General Federation of Women's Clubs appointed a Lincoln Highway Tree Committee to plant trees and shrubbery along the border of this great national road.

The committee will endeavor to plant the longest lived trees although they will plant some fruit trees. In states where they will grow, a group of three birch trees will be planted as warnings at railroad crossings, bridges and culverts. Each state is going to plant trees and shrubs that are reminiscent of different traits in Lincoln's character and events in his life. The prairie rose "typifies the tender side of Lincoln's character as shown by his forgiving soldiers who slept on duty." The red cedar is an evergreen and symbolizes the permanence of Lincoln's fame. The dogwood is to be planted because it was prized by the pioneers for the making of wedges. The Kentucky coffee tree recalls the state of Lincoln's birth and the wild grape will twine about it to symbolize the reconciliation of the north and south. The white oak, strong and grand, is somewhat reminiscent of Lincoln's career as a "rail-splitter." The silver-bell tree typifies the tender side of Lincoln's character shown in his home life. The June berry hints by its petals, the mystical side of the president. The Segal lily is a symbol of Lincoln's character because of its life-giving qualities. When the first pioneers entered Utah and were unable to obtain food they found the roots of the Segal lily both nourishing and palatable.

In Nevada, the highway stretches through three hundred and fifty miles of desert where for fifty miles there is no habitation, no water and no possible way of irrigation, so a border will be impossible. In the salt fields of Utah where absolutely no vegetation takes root, the women are going to have blocks and figures of salt erected.

So you see that this wonderful paved highway, which is to be not only of practical value, but also a suitable memorial to Lincoln, will have a fitting border for the tourists will be constantly reminded of Lincoln's character by the trees and shrubs.

LOU ELLA HAWKINS.
The High School Plus.

Twenty-five years ago there were twenty-five hundred public high schools. Today there are twelve thousand. In these schools are one million five hundred thousand pupils. Twenty-five years ago the course of study in most high schools consisted of subjects now completed in the elementary schools, with the addition of some Latin, Greek, and mathematics. The high school that offered more than one course of study was the exception. There are those in this audience who graduated from Newark High school when the same requirement was made of every student.

This is no longer the case. The pupil who enters our High school today may choose from five different courses of study. Each student may choose according to his own plans for the future. Certainly the course of study is of primary importance but the high school which offered nothing more would be a failure. The successful high school must be the High School Plus. By the High School Plus we mean those student activities which are valuable to high school life but are not required by the curriculum.

One of the most neglected factors in our high school, so far as the whole student body is concerned, is that of physical training. By a thorough physical training the student acquires habits of health which are lifelong. And aside from physical benefits the athlete is bound to develop characteristics which strengthen his moral character.

Now, if athletics form such an important part in high school life, why should they be limited to the few? Of course we are all proud of the winning teams which Newark High school produces every year but taking all these into consideration, there are not more than two hundred pupils in the High school of six hundred and fifty taking an active part in athletics. And these are the boys who already have good health and do not need the benefits. The first requirement of successful athletics is a good gymnasium, something which Newark needs. If we had a good gymnasium our possibilities in athletics would be practically unlimited. Then every student in the High school could take an active part. Above all else our High school needs a gymnasium.

Another important phase of High school life is literary work. Literary talent is developed through society work, plays, debating and probably the most important of all is the work of the school paper. Let us first consider the literary societies. In our High school at present we have two, one for girls and one for boys. Both societies encourage all forms of literary work, and stand at the head of this department in the school. The members of the girls' society are elected because of good scholarship and thus encourage efficiency among the girls.

In connection with the literary work of the school come the plays. People are very likely to underestimate the value of the plays in High school. Every member of the cast has some part to play. If the part is not properly interpreted the whole play will be affected by it. There is a responsibility about it all which is of direct benefit.

Closely related to the school play comes the debating team. The benefits of debating are many. Probably most important it trains the debator to become a logical thinker. Thus we see that debate is one of the most important agencies which go to make up the successful High school.

In discussing factors, vital to our High school life we must not forget the school paper. Our paper reflects the life and atmosphere of our school. In our best literary efforts are published. Through our literary department genius is discovered which would not otherwise be found. Throughout the paper a wholesome vein of humor runs which is always clever and in good taste. The High school paper has unlimited opportunities to further the best interest of the school. It can encourage unity between students and faculty and influence every school activity by its own attitude. Truly, the school paper is most necessary to a well equipped High school.

Thus we see that the activities of the school are a very valuable adjunct to the necessary routine of study, and no better wish can be offered to the pupils of Newark High school than that they may attain good scholarship plus.

Commercial Training in the High School.

Today mankind is engaged in one of the greatest struggles the world has ever known for food, clothing and shelter. The wants of the people are more complicated and perplexing than ever before; the people have never tried so hard to supply them. As variety and extravagance increase, it is the endeavor of the business man to secure for himself not only the necessities but luxuries in food, clothing, and shelter. In this struggle for business there is at all times a very fierce competition, and in order that the business man may secure for himself his rightful share of the profits, it is necessary that he shall be successfully educated.

It has been said that ninety per cent enter business unprepared and at some time fail, because of a lack of preparation. Everyone considers it necessary that the doctors, lawyers, and teachers have professional training after graduating from the High school. But what has been deemed sufficient for the average business man? Perchance a lazy lad dropped from school, had a chance to enter into business and lat-

FOREIGN MINER IN ILLINOIS TELLS OF PLOT TO KILL WEALTHY OPERATOR.

But Father-in-law Was Shot by Mistake—Foreigners Were Recently Dismissed.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Johnston, City, Ill., June 11.—Three companies of the Illinois National Guard were patrolling the streets here today in order to prevent further disturbances between American and foreign miners, growing out of the lynching yesterday of Joseph Strando, one of the foreigners.
Strando with three others, was accused of shooting to death W. E. Chapman, a wealthy resident of this place and wounding his daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Schull, wife of the manager of a local mine.
Several hundred members of the mob which yesterday hanged Strando carried arms today in expectation of an attack from the foreign quarter.
At Marion, near here, extra precaution was taken to guard the jail in which are the three miners arrested last night for alleged complicity in the Chapman murder.
Strando admitted a few minutes before the noose was drawn that he was one of the band of disgruntled miners who had planned the death of Benjamin Schull and had killed the latter's father-in-law by mistake. Strando confessed that he witnessed the shooting and named the men now in the Marion jail as those who had fired the fatal shots. The plot to kill Schull was in retaliation for the recent dismissal of several foreign miners.

er on failed. This was considered as a mere incident.
This is pre-eminently the business man's age. The call of the times is for preparedness on the part of this prospective man. How then can he prepare and where shall he find just the training that instructs and also builds character. Unhesitatingly the answer is "The Public High School."
The business world must knock at the door of the school and inquire for the man "Educated for Business." Education now and henceforth must stand for preparation as well as discipline and training in general powers. A man entering business unprepared is a disappointment to himself as well as to the community. Therefore, it is the duty of the school to take upon itself the indispensable task of sending every man to his work prepared to become successful in his career.
To meet this demand the commercial course in the High school provides business training on actual commercial processes. In addition to offering the school endeavors to typewriting, the school endeavours to make sure that the pupils can make rapid and accurate calculations. English classes, especially adapted to the needs of the pupils, enable them to write clear, well-constructed English, give an accurate report, and follow intelligible instructions. They are also given an idea of the social, political, and economic questions of the day; that they may become intelligent citizens. To meet the more recent demands of the business world a course in salesmanship is offered. The purpose is not to make everyone an expert salesman but to give him an idea of the work which, no doubt, will be of benefit to him. Thus, when the pupil graduates and begins work in an office he continues the very work that he has been doing, and society is grateful to the school for furnishing trained workers to help carry on effectively its activities.
The commercial work in the High School is no longer a dream nor an experiment that engages the attention of the public today and then passes into a forgotten tomorrow. It meets great needs that are ever present, and thus answers the call that is made by the business world.

ROBERT WILSON IRWIN, Aircraft and Its Effect on Modern Warfare.

One of the most interesting questions of today is to what extent and in what manner Air-craft will affect Modern Warfare. This is a question in which more interest has been taken since the present great European War has broken out than at any other time since the Dirigibles and Aeroplanes have been invented. There seems great possibility of the Aeroplane and Dirigible having far reaching effects on the Wars of the future.
Some people believe that the Air-craft that will be developed will be one of the great features in all modern wars while there are others who believe just as strongly that the Aeroplane is near the end of its development for war purposes and will therefore have little bearing on the wars of the future. Those people who believe that Aeroplane and Dirigible are of little importance in future wars base their contentions on the fact that not half that was expected has been accomplished by Air-craft in the present war. Those who believe that flying machines are to have great influence or wars to come point to what has already been done with Air-craft since the invention of the Aeroplane.
The chief reason that the Aeroplane has been employed so little as a death-dealing machine thus far, is due to the fact that they have to keep at such a high altitude to be out of range of the modern high powered guns and to the great inaccuracy in firing their projectiles. Several devices have been invented to drop the projectiles out none has made an absolute success thus far on account of the high altitude at which the Aeroplane must fly.
Not many ways for overcoming the altitude handicap have been thought of so far, but one man has suggested the following plan. First he would have five or six Aeroplanes connected in tandem so as to be capable of sustaining a great load. Next he would have an armored basket suspended from the Aeroplane by one or more string of cables. Then the armored basket would be lowered over the enemy while the Aeroplane was still out of range and projectiles could be discharged from it with great accuracy. The man who has brought forth this suggestion claims that one of his machines would cost far less than a battleship and would be able to destroy a whole fleet of them. But while this is a good suggestion the author has not taken into consideration how cumbersome such a machine would be and that it might be an excellent target for Aeroplanes of a lighter type which would mount above it and destroy it with their projectiles.
Should Aeroplanes be developed no further as a death-dealing machine its use in scouting can not be overestimated. The office of the Aeroplane in scouting and range finding has changed the mode of fighting in the open to one of fighting in trenches, and battles are therefore of much longer duration than formerly. Whether Air-craft is to have a great effect on future wars remains to be seen but it is certain that Aeroplanes have had much to do with wars in the last decade. There are many people who believe that future wars will be fought in the air between Aeroplanes of hostile nations, but even should this be possible, may it come about that a court of the nations will be established which will decide all international controversies in a civilized manner.

RUTH HIRST

Moving Pictures in Education.
This is an age of progression. It is marked by advanced thoughts and unique inventions. Yet every advanced idea, however discerning as to human comfort it may be received with distrust and opposition in the early stages of its development. As it has been with practically every modern educational improvement, so is it with the moving pictures. We hold up our hands with all the horror of our Puritan ancestry at the idea of so questionable institution as the modern moving picture ever becoming an important factor in the education of the future citizen of our land; although in our saner moments we must admit that the "movie" is a fixture and that advantage must be taken of its steadily increasing popularity and influence.
When Thomas A. Edison first invented the moving picture apparatus his one idea for it in its completion and perfection was that of an exclusive use in the education of the child. He has since prepared a list of subjects which he affirms can be taught by this method. Of course we must consider the fact that Mr. Edison is an enthusiast on the subject, yet, he has reinforced his assertions by testing his educational scenarios on a class of ten boys, one of whom is his own.
At present the moving pictures seem best adaptable to the studies of geography, English and history. To the ordinary unimaginative pupil these studies are but the prosy, abstract instruction of the map and rule the text book and the illustrations, thereof, but with living pictures taken from real life, these lessons become a part of the school boy's own interesting experiences.
For instance, take the pupil's conception of the sea islands of his geography. To him, they are but red or green, or yellow specks upon the map, and he has no idea of his dark-skinned cousins who live there. But the moving pictures make possible the acquaintance of the school boy with the customs and people of lands otherwise impossible to his perceptions. Through this medium he hunts big game with the Hotentot boy of Africa; is enchanted by the snake-charmer of India, and cuts rice with chopsticks in a house of paper walls by the side of a Japanese boy.

The English class also needs the enlivening power of the moving picture apparatus. Imagine the interest even in a class where Shakespeare's plays dramatized by the great artists, are made familiar to pupils to whom an actual presentation of such masterpieces is "impossible." How much greater would be the average graduate's conception of the merits of plays he now styles as "stupid!"
Then, will Time in his flight turn backward while we review those days of terror and torture of our sophomore year, when the wee sma' hours found us wishing that Cains Julius Caesar had died without seeing a Gaul and its three parts, or that the inhabitants of those three parts had beaten him so badly on the first expedition that he would have been ashamed to have recorded the battles. But those terrors would all be turned to pleasures, could the moving pictures be employed to bring before the eyes of the pupil the scenes described on the pages of the Commentaries. By this means he would view the pitching of the Roman camp in Britain, the sailing of the galley ships on the Mediterranean and the construction of the mighty bridge across the Rhine. So the famous pages of Caesar's Gallic Wars would be visualized to the student, and he would take an interest in his work, holding Caesar's campaigns as real and as vital as "Treasure Island," or "Robinson Crusoe."
Such are the possibilities of the moving pictures in education. In America, who should lead the world in her public school education, to be unable to take the advantages offered for the improvement of the education of her future citizen, for that her public schools may fulfill their mission—that of dismissing capable citizens from their portals into a world with which they have already been made acquainted.

ROBERT WILKIN, Newark's Greatest Need.

In the last few years we have watched with pride the advancement Newark has made along many lines. Blocks of paved streets add to the comfort and beauty of our city; the new hospital offers increased facilities for caring for the sick; while the public play ground, meeting the need of the children, is the envy of many other cities in the state. When we think of these advancements, we are apt to grow complacent and self-satisfied, not realizing that Newark is far behind all other cities because of its one great need, a public library. The women of the city have put forth every effort in its behalf and as a result we have the nucleus of a library of which we are justly proud. No doubt the question comes up in your mind at once, "Why do we need a new public library, when we already have one?" We have a library but it is not large enough for a city of this size, nor is it supported entirely by public funds.

The benefits of a well-equipped library are acknowledged by all to be advantageous to every one. In the children's room the child acquires a taste for good reading under the guidance of the librarian. Such a taste for books worth while, once obtained, remains forever. As soon as the children are far enough advanced in school work, the teacher assigns them subjects outside of the text book. Where will they find the desired information if it is not at a library? All references for debates, literary, society work, and essays must be obtained there. But Newark's library is not large enough for this work. In preparing for the triangular debate and class debates, it was necessary to send away for reference books and magazines which were needed. Some people seem to think that the library contains only books of fiction. Fiction, it is true, is necessary and has its rightful place but the greatest value to the community comes from the reference books and magazines.
The library is beneficial, not only to the school children but to all adults. Here the club women of the city find reference material for the preparation of all programs. Here the great laboring class receive much benefit from the books and magazines at practically no cost. Books can be obtained which will enable them to better their positions. Here is a list of a few patrons of a library in Buffalo in one day: A tailor's apprentice wanted a book on the cutting of garments; a printer wanted to be sure about the correct size of visiting cards; a mechanic needed a method for finding the third side of a triangle; there came another workman with a request for information about the manufacture of artificial ground glass; a linenman wanted to know how to prevent grouting by induction; a decorator wanted an allegorical figure for a coat of arms and a dyer asked for a formula for mixing a certain color. If such information were asked for in our library it would be rather doubtful whether the necessary books could be obtained. Therefore, it is apparent that if we had an adequate library it would be beneficial, not only to a few but to all the people of Newark.

How are we to obtain such a library? A county library, situated in Newark, would meet, not only the needs of the city but of the entire county. The county commissioners should grant a small per cent of the taxes to build and maintain it. Then there would be sub-stations throughout the county and traveling libraries under the supervision of county teachers or other equally responsible persons. Where needed, books would be sent for given length of time and then exchanged for other books, as required. Through the Grange, as a distribution of books, the farmer as well as his children would be brought in touch with the great world of books. This is not a plan worked out in theory and not in practice. In the city of Van Wert, in our own state, is situated a county library which has proved a success. It has been adopted in California by a state law and in many other places it has been tried with success.
If every citizen of Newark who is justly proud of the city's advancement along civic, educational and commercial lines would put forth every effort to influence the proper officials to build and maintain a library, Newark would soon realize its greatest need.

Harmless Liquid Removes Hair

El-Rado—a sanitary, colorless liquid—will remove any hair growth with a single application, and leave the skin white and smooth. For years thousands of women have used El-Rado for all hair blemishes on face, neck, shoulders and for under arms.
On account of the highly antiseptic ingredients of El-Rado, many physicians use them—in preference to shaving—for removing hair before operations.
After a little use, the hair will fall out for a moment or two and then wash off with plain water. Every trace of hair will have vanished, not to reappear for a long time. When it finally does reappear, it will be softer and finer than originally, so that another simple application will remove it for a still longer time.
You should never shave the hair, because it will come in again very quickly and will finally become as coarse and brittle as a man's beard. Shaving is even worse, for any hair dresser will tell you that nothing grows back so quickly. Paste or powdered depilatories, which have to be scraped off and which irritate the skin, have the same result. El-Rado is the only method known that retards the hair growth.
All the better drug stores and toilet and beauty counters sell and recommend El-Rado. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Money back if not more than satisfied. Get a bottle now, so you can apply it tonight.
We will gladly fill your order by mail direct, in plain wrapper, if you will write enclosing stamps or coin. For free booklet, full information and letters of prominent users, send a postal. El-Rado Mfg. Co., 66 East 28th St., New York City.

AKRON WINS SEESAW GAME FROM NEWARK

With another badly shaken up team in the field Newark Thursday lost a game to Newham's Akron gang at Wehrle park by a score of 3 to 5. The game was played before a fair sized crowd of ladies who were guests of the management on the first ladies' day this season when the sun has shone. Whether the presence of the ladies had anything to do with the defeat of the Wratten athletes can not be said but the fact remains that the club was defeated decisively.

Until the eighth inning when Akron scored her last two runs, the game looked to be anybody's as Newark was making dangerous sorties frequently. Newham and his men were able to drive back the attacking party, however, just before they scored enough runs to take the lead. Akron made things interesting for Benner, Newark's newest pitcher, almost from the start. In every inning but the third, Akron got men on the paths, either by hits, by passes or misplays. In four of these innings, Akron was able to score one or more runs.

Talbot opened the second inning with a home run over deep right field fence for the first run of the game. Price and Holler hit safely immediately thereafter and with misplays in the field and another hit by Plummer, Price and Newham scored. Holler, having been retired at second on Newham's grounder.

With two out in the fifth, Mundy hit safely and went to second on Benner's error. He scored on Talbot's hit. In the seventh, Jaekel opened with a double to deep left and scored on Mundy's single. Talbot sacrificed and Price was retired by Humphreys. Holler's drive to Wratten was fumbled allowing Mundy to score. Newham's fly to right was copped by Blanchard.

In the eighth Linne opened by striking out. Plummer walked and Patton was out on a fly to center field. Jaekel singled, scoring Plummer and Mundy singled scoring Jaekel who went to second on the fielding of his hit. Talbot ended the inning with a fly to Long in left field.

Newark's first runs came in the third inning when three were counted. Malloy, first up, walked. Newham tossed Blanchard's grounder to Holler, retiring Malloy. Benner walked and Long singled, scoring Blanchard. Hanna singled to short, the ball being too hot to handle. Holler threw wild to first and Long scored on this misplay, while Benner scored on the hit. Wratten beat out a bunt but Deitrick and Humphreys were unable to connect safely and two were left on bases.

Wratten lifted a high one to Plummer in right with one out in the fifth, going to second on the play. Deitrick fanned and Humphreys arrived at first on Linne's error. Hump and Wratten worked the double steal. Wratten sliding safely home. Pearce was out Holler to Mundy.

After Pearce was retired in the eighth, Malloy singled Blanchard drove a long single to center field which Jaekel misjudged for an instant. Malloy running to third. Goodwin batted for Benner in an effort to keep up the batting rally. He rolled one to Holler who tossed to Newham, retiring Blanchard. Long's hit sent Goodwin to third but Strawn batting in the place of Hanna, the change being made in the fifth inning, was retired by the pitcher.

SCANG OF PIRATES HURT BY BAT OF HINCHMAN

Pittsburg, June 11.—Catcher Bob Schang of the Pirates was badly hurt yesterday morning during the practice hour at Forbes Field and will be out of the game for several weeks as the consequence. Schang was waiting his turn to bat while the regulars were practicing batting. When Bill Hinchman swung heavily at a pitched ball, the bat slipped out of his hand and struck the catcher a violent blow in the face. He was knocked unconscious and Manager Clark sent out a hurry call to the West Penn Hospital.

When the ambulance arrived Schang was revived and was taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had lost several teeth and a small bone in his nose was broken. He will have to take nourishment out of a tube for some time, but the doctors say he will be able to play in two or three weeks.

Bryan In Second Statement Says Wilson's German Note Is In Characters of Blood

Washington, June 11. William Jennings Bryan, in an appeal addressed "To the American People," last night, asks them to hear him before they pass sentence upon his laying down the portions of secretary of state in the midst of international stress. Confident that the public will credit him with honorable intentions, Mr. Bryan frankly says that good intentions are not enough and that if the public verdict is against him he asks no mercy, asserting that men in public life must be willing to bear any deserved punishment from ostracism to execution.

Tomorrow Mr. Bryan will issue another statement in an appeal he says to German-Americans.

The nature of this appeal he would not discuss. But with the issuance of the third statement since his resignation, the former secretary says, he will be ready to rest his case.

Of course I shall always be ready to talk when the occasion arises and I think it necessary. Mr. Bryan declared.

The statement entitled by the former secretary as the real issue is as follows:

"To the American People:

"You now have before you the text of the note to Germany—the note which it would have been my official duty to sign had I remained secretary of state. I ask you to sit in judgment upon my decision to resign rather than to sign a responsibility for it. I am sure you will credit me with honorable motives, but that not enough. Good intentions could not atone for a mistake. A such time, on such a subject and under such circumstances, if your voice is against me I ask no mercy. I am sure none of you would wish a man in public life must at a certain time to his conscience, but how conscientiously he acts he must be prepared to accept without complaint any condition which his own conscience may bring upon him. He must be willing to bear any deserved punishment, from ostracism to execution. But hear me before you pass sentence.

The President and I agree in purpose, we desire a peaceful solution of the dispute which has arisen between the United States and Germany. We not only desire it but with great fervor we pray for it. But we cannot irreconcilably as to the means of

RHEUMATISM IN ANKLES

One Bottle of Rheuma Relieved Woman Who Could Not Walk.

Marvelous as this story may seem, it is absolutely true; but this is only one of the many almost magical cures that Rheuma is performing these days. Use of one bottle will convince any sufferer.

Mrs. Gertrude Kozel, Southfield, Pa., writes: "I had rheumatism for over a year, it settled in my ankles and I could not walk. I have taken one bottle of Rheuma and do not have any more pain, and I can again walk at will."

T. J. Evans and all druggists sell Rheuma for 50 cents. It is guaranteed to cure any case of any kind of rheumatism or nerve back.

Gratifying relief comes in a day, because Rheuma acts at once on the kidneys, stomach, liver and blood and starts to rid the entire system of poisonous uric acid at once.

Europe are grappling with each other is it in a death struggle.

They are sacrificing the best and bravest of their sons on the battle field; they are converting their cities into cemeteries and their homes into houses of mourning; they are taxing the wealth of today and laying a burden of debt on the toil of the future; they have killed the air with thunderbolts more deadly than those of love and they have multiplied the perils of the deep.

Add to this fuel to the flame of hate they have daily devised new horrors until one side is endeavoring to drown non-combatant men, women and children in the sea while the other side seeks to starve non-combatant men, women and children on land. And they are so absorbed in alternate retaliations and in competitive cruelties that they seem for the time being blind to the rights of neutrals and deaf to the appeals of humanity. A tree is known by its fruit. The war in Europe is the ripest fruit of the old system.

This is what a mass supported by force has done in the old world. Still we try to cross the Atlantic. Already the noises of our own country have caught the tables from the dogs of war. Shall the opponents of organized slaughter be silent while the disease spreads?

And an humble follower of the Prince of Peace as a devoted believer in the prophecy that they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. I see to be counted among those who earnestly urge the adoption of a course in this matter which will leave no doubt of our government's willingness to continue negotiations with Germany until an amicable understanding is reached or at least until the stress of war is over. We can appeal from Philip drink with courage to Philip sobered by the memories of an historic friend and by a reflection of the unnumbered millions of kinsmen that bind the Fatherland to the United States.

Some nation must lead the world out of the black night of war into the light of that day when swords shall be beaten into plowshares. Why not make that honor ours. Some day—may not now—the nations will learn that enduring peace cannot be built upon fear—that good will does not grow upon the stock of violence. Some day the nations will place their trust in love, the weapon for which there is no shield in love that suffers, forgetful long and is kind and in love that is not easily provoked that breathes all things in love, which endures all things in love which, though despised as weakness by the worshippers of Mars, abounds when all else fails.

W. J. BRYAN.

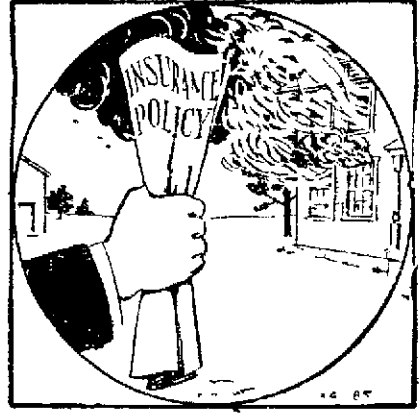

When Mr. Bryan met newspaper men at his home to give out his statement he was clad in a military look in khaki riding suit, having just returned from a horseback ride in the country.

I rode in the woods," he said, "and chopped down a tree. Chopping is my chief exercise lately."

Asked how big the tree was, he said it was 18 inches thick and that he thought wood chopping the finest exercise in the world.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF ENTIRE STATE TO INCORPORATE

Articles of incorporation, not for profit, have been asked of the secretary of state at Columbus by the Ohio Sunday School Association which after 76 years of informal existence will put itself in position to own and control property.

This move is made in anticipation of favorable action at the state Sunday school convention at Zanesville June 22, 23 and 24, when a plan will be submitted for raising a fund of $10,000 part to be employed in the purchase of permanent headquarters for the state association, work and the remainder to go to an endowment fund the proceeds from which will be used to support new work not possible with the revenues now available.

Letters of inquiry, directed to every county in the state, have produced hearty commendation of the plan from a large number of leaders in Sunday school work. It is estimated that there are 1,000,000 Sunday school scholars in Ohio, so that a contribution of 10 cents each will raise the desired fund.

Incorporating the Sunday school association is a legal necessity to permit it to own property. Those who signed the incorporation papers are Dr. W. G. Chipman, Westerville; Ed. L. Young, Norwalk; E. L. Barrett, Springfield; W. H. Ridenbaugh, Lancaster; George Barret, Canal Winchester; T. D. Darling, Columbus; C. W. Shinn, Toledo; M. G. Bailey, Columbus; and Dr. Herman Heston, Columbus.

A conference of all county and township executive officers and Sunday school superintendents has been called to meet in Zanesville June 23 during the state convention, to advise on this subject.

FRAUDULENT AFFIDAVITS WERE GIVEN

AS EVIDENCE TO U. S. STATE DEPARTMENT THAT LUSITANIA WAS ARMED

Is the Allegation Against German Reservist Now Under Arrest—Grand Jury Investigating.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, June 11.—The federal grand jury now in session here, it was stated today, will make a thorough investigation to determine whether there was a conspiracy to defraud the United States by persons who obtained the affidavits submitted to the state department in which it was asserted that the steamship Lusitania carried four guns when she left here on her last trip on April 20. The inquiry may last for several weeks. Roger B. Wood, the assistant United States district attorney, who is directing the inquiry, said that the grand jury would follow the evidence as far as it might lead. He declined to make any prediction as to who might become involved.

The arrest yesterday of Gustave Stahl, a German reservist who made one of the affidavits given to the German embassy for submission to the state department, is regarded by the federal prosecutors as only an incident of what is likely to be a far reaching investigation. Stahl, who is charged with perjury in repeating before the grand jury the substance of his affidavit, is held in $10,000 bail for a hearing before a United States commissioner on June 24.

Thus far, Paul Koenig, also known as Stenier, who the federal authorities say is head of a secret service department and agent of the Hamburg-American line, is the only man they name as being involved in the alleged conspiracy. It was stated today that Koenig revealed to the customs officials here the fact that Stahl was in Albany after agents of the department of justice had been searching for him for several days. The proceedings against Koenig were initiated to establish the charge that he used improper influence to induce Stahl to make his affidavit.

Josephine Weir, Anton Grieve and a man named Bruckner who also made affidavits in the Lusitania case, have been questioned by agents of the department of justice and can be summoned before the grand jury if their testimony is desired. Their affidavits tended to corroborate Stahl's statement that the Lusitania was armed.

DIPLOMAS

next announced that owing to the serious illness of William Christian, Sr., father of President W. C. Christian of the board of education, the latter was unable to be present and had requested Mr. Hawkins to read the address to the graduates which had been prepared. Superintendent Hawkins prefaced the address with appropriate remarks telling of the interest which President Christian has always taken in the public schools and especially of the high school and graduating class. Following is the splendid tribute paid by the president of the board of education:

According to custom, we assemble here annually, to enjoy the exercises of the graduating class of our public schools, and to bid them God-speed on life's journey.

Twelve years of continuous study represent the time necessary for each of these scholars to secure the reward that is now awaiting them. They have labored earnestly and successfully to avail themselves of an education, thereby preparing themselves for whatever calling they may determine to pursue. This is the personal benefit in completing the course of study in the public schools, which is right and proper from their own view, but there is another or additional interest taken by the public generally, who generously assist in providing their education; they expect in addition to secure general benefits for the betterment of society and a stable government, a universal investment for the future. I might say in this connection in the way of explanation of such interest, that the public has invested about $33,500.00 in this class alone; this represents the cost commencing in the primary grade, on through the grades up to the final event here to night. Are we not proud of the investment? I say yes.

The public school system is founded upon the fact, that the principal purpose for which instruction is given—is the development of mental discipline and knowledge; creating a foundation of character to which is added determination, keenness of foresight and a resultant efficiency. Because of this we now have compulsory school laws, compelling every child to receive a given amount of schooling.

Educate—and you elevate the standard of citizenship; in the homes, workshops, public places or wherever it may be.

Educate—because our future welfare depends upon these, the oncoming active members of society. They soon will be the captains of industry. Government we must have, civil and political, and to wisely administer requires men and women of high ideals, prudent, patriotic, who will safeguard the interests of all mankind alike, and stand steadfast for the truth. A grand thought in this connection, are the words of President Lincoln on his aspiring to the presidency:—"I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to what light I have. I must stand with anybody that stands right; stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong." These words disclose sterling character, stability of purpose and dignity, and were therefore the bulwark of a mighty career.

I commend these words to you all as you go forward to the active duties of life, follow them and your individuality will stand out boldly. Keep faithfully busy daily, and and you may rest assured that you will be one of the competent ones of your generation.

Remember further—the coming days are days of efficiency; let there be no retardation, climb ever onward and upward, and you will reach the zenith of success.

I desire to say for the Board of Education, in good faith, have they labored to give to you the very best of an education, that the public funds will permit. The seed has been sown,—stifle not its growth. In recognition of your untiring efforts, the Board has directed me to present to each of you, a diploma, an acknowledgment of the successful completion of your school days.

Supt. Hawkins then addressed the class and in a few brief remarks congratulated the members upon the successful termination of their studies in the high school. He told of how their parents probably made sacrifices in order that their children might have a proper education. He said some of them probably had done without many things that they might have enjoyed in order that you might have this privilege.

"They wanted you to have it, the city wants you to have it, and the state wants you to have it. Your parents believe in you and they want you to grow into intelligent men and women who will honor them. They want you to be educated that you may prosper. They want you to be educated that you may compete successfully with your fellows.

"In a few brief years you will be called upon to fill positions of trust and honor. You will build the city's churches, its schools, pave its streets, perform its business. In short the welfare of the city will be in your hands, therefore, the city wants you to be trained to be honest, industrious and intelligent."

Hon. W. E. Miller, vice president of the board was next introduced to award the diplomas on behalf of the board of education. Mr. Miller prefaced his remarks with a splendid tribute to William Christian, Sr., telling of his long service as a member of the board of education, and of his qualifications for presiding over the board on numerous occasions. He told of his worth as a citizen and said his was a life which all could emulate.

Mr. Miller thanked the public for the support which it had rendered the board and through it the schools of the city. He said that the splendid representation of citizenship at the commencement was proof conclusive that the board's efforts were appreciated and that they had done their work well.

The speaker addressed the class and congratulated them upon the finish of their labors in the high school. He knew at times their tasks had been arduous but that they had set their aim to reach the goal and their successful efforts were more than pleasing to the board, to their parents and friends and to the general public. Mr. Miller's address teemed with many good things, which coped with its excellent advice will have its effect upon the ninety-seven students who last night bade adieu to their local scholastic work.

The benediction by Rev. Mr. Laughlin closed the exercises.

RIDAPILE

CONES

Germes irritate and enlarge the blood vessels, which creates piles.

A new treatment for piles is a recent discovery of a New York Specialist. This scientific remedy contains a powerful non-poisonous germicide and antiseptic which removes the cause that creates piles without inconvenience to the user of these suppositories. By the use of Ridapile Cones relief is quickly obtained; pain banished; itching immediately ceases; bleeding is stopped; protruding piles and hemorrhoids reduced after a few applications of the Cones when used according to directions, restoring these parts to their healthy condition. VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podosphyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santalax Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santalax Remedy Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Many social events will feature the program arranged for the Mound-builders' Country club this season and the first of this series, the musicale of last night, was one of the most delightful as well as one of the most successful formal entertainments ever arranged.

The lack of set formality in the presentation of the program appealed to large number of members and guests who had assembled and Miss Elsa Hirschberg-Lyon, Newark's most talented singer, was heard in solo work, and she also directed the chorus of women's voices. Miss Hirschberg-Lyon sang three numbers, "O Promise Me," "My Star" and "Years at the Spring." The woman's chorus numbered eight, and Miss Mary Neal, and Mrs. Daisy Symone, artistically interpreted, several noted compositions for piano. Miss Edna Wise, a pupil of Miss Hirschberg-Lyon, sang and Miss Florence King gave two very entertaining readings. The musicale was under the direction and arranged by Mrs. J. R. Fitzgibbon, Mrs. C. W. Miller, and Mrs. W. A. Dorcy.

The club house was arranged with great clusters of peonies in their variegated colors, and the rooms were filled with the guests. Preceding the musicale, Mrs. Howard Darrow of Granville entertained the members of Kappa Phi sorority of Shepardson college at the club with a dinner and the sorority members sang a number of their college songs during the evening.

On Wednesday Mrs. C. W. Miller of Hudson avenue was the soloist at one of the meetings held by the "Prisoners of War," an organization of Civil war veterans. The Prisoners of War were in convention at Pataskala for three days.

Granville

(Special to Advocate.)

Granville, June 11.—A large crowd assembled in the Opera House last evening for the graduating exercises of the High school which were unusually fine. The stage, banked with palms and cut flowers, furnished a beautiful setting for the class, which was seated there during the performance. The class of twelve was represented by six who did themselves and the school great credit in their essays and orations. Prof. Strong and the High school teachers deserve the highest praise for the showing made. Music was furnished by the well known Denison String Quartet, which elicited hearty applause. Messrs. Blackheads are so unsightly we wonder how people tolerate them as many do. To treat blackheads cleanse the face and throat with a good cleansing cream, then steam the face for ten minutes, wipe the moisture off and press out the blackheads with a little metal blackhead extractor which can be purchased at any drug store. If there are any pimples, massage the face with a good cream for ten or fifteen minutes each day. Wipe the cream off, dampen a portion of a soft towel with toilet water and mop the face all over very gently, then a little fine face powder may be used. If the treatment is taken at night, do not use either the toilet water or the face powder. Once or twice a week is as often as the face should be treated. The cleansing cream should be used every night. This rule holds good for every face as it is so much better for the skin than soap and water. All pimples that form a yellow head should be opened very carefully with a sterilized needle and the contents pressed out very gently with a blackhead instrument, never with the finger nails. When there are no pimples, the massage cream should be used for the massage. Remember that getting rid of blackheads prevents pimples as well.

"Over the Wire"

Actually sorry you weren't in yesterday afternoon—I dropped in on Bess for a cup of tea and met Ruth there....Bess was writing third months' old letters....poor dear.... You know that adorable secretary of hers went and got married....Bess suggested that I call you up for some "bridge"....I noticed one of those old-fashioned dolls on the table....

looked sort of like a tea cozy....and she lifted it and there was the 'phone!—terribly cute idea....the doll's skirts were wired out so it just covered — and of course, it harmonized with her desk fittings....Yes—Bess was looking very well—she had on a house dress of flowered pompadour silk — and she told us some shocking tales about the Raley set at Palm Beach last season....what do you think?

NO INTIMATION OF SUCCESSOR TO J. H. NEWTON

Congressman William A. Ashbrook, who is at his home in Johnston, has not as yet intimated who the next postmaster of Newark will be. The Democratic Central committee is to meet tomorrow and it is probable that Mr. Ashbrook will be there Saturday to attend the meeting and that he may have a recommendation to make at that time. The resignation of Postmaster J. H. Newton, as announced in yesterday's paper, has been sent to Washington to go into effect July 1.

Your Boys and Girls

Did you ever notice that your child likes to watch his shadow and play with it? All children do this naturally and it should be encouraged. Use this as a help to get the children to bed with smiles on their lips, instead of tears in their eyes. In this way the child is learning by playing with his shadow, that the dark has no terrors. The finest of all bedtime plays are shadow plays. All fathers and mothers can easily make a duck, swan, rabbit or pig with the fingers and throw the shadow on the wall. I have found this of unending interest to my little tots and have had them imitate me and create shapes themselves. Their bedtime by this device became a time of joy and I am sure this plan can be followed where many times others fail.

VETO

OF BILL PERMITTING ESTABLISHMENT OF STATE BIRD AND GAME PRESERVE

Has Caused Abandonment for the Present at Least of Plans in that Direction.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, June 11.—Hopes of establishing state forest, bird and game preserves despite the vetoing by Governor Willis of the Kious bill intended to permit that, have been given up temporarily, it was announced today at headquarters of the agricultural commission. No legal means of spending state money for that purpose could be found, except by enacting new legislation. Governor Willis gave as his reason for disapproving the bill that it might promote a custom in future years of spending too much money on lands and too little on fish and game propagation.

General John C. Speaks, state fish and game warden and Benjamin F. Gayman, secretary of the agricultural commission, during the last year, had led a movement to secure legislation by which a certain proportion of money from hunters' licenses could be used in buying lands, preferably cheap hilly and forest covered territory in southern Ohio, for state preserves. Both these men said today they had found no legal means of spending money this way.

Mrs. William H. Frankenberg was removed from her home in 342 West Main street, to the City Hospital, Wednesday evening where she underwent a serious operation. The attending physicians were Doctors Davis and Harbottle.

Wall Street. (ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, June 11.—Wall Street seemed to view the international situation with increasing optimism, judging from the course of the stock market in today's early dealings. War shares were again conspicuous. Bethlehem Steel rising five points to 169 1/2, a new record, with an equal gain for General Electric. Elsewhere, especially among industrials, advances ran from one to two points, the copper group continuing to reflect the favorable condition in that industry. United States Steel's initial transaction consisted of a block of 5000 shares at an advance of a point. American Can opened with sales of 4,000 shares and Anaconda Copper with 2000 each, making substantial fractional advances. Canadian Pacific was the only heavy issue declining over two points. Profit-taking reduced gains throughout the list as the market soon became reactionary. Bethlehem Steel lost half its gain and other stocks of this class suffered similarly. There was a secondary rise on more moderate trading, but only in a few instances notably Anaconda Copper and Mexican Petroleum, and prices recovered to initial high levels. Canadian Pacific, in which selling was reported for Montreal, regained some of its loss. Before noon American Van, American and Baldwin Locomotives and Texas Company were taken up with advances of two to five points, while American Coal Products rose 10 points. Bonds were steady.

Chicago Grain. (ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Chicago, June 11.—Wet weather in the southwest lifted wheat prices to-day regardless of a fresh decline at Liverpool. Strong interests here took the surplus off the market. Reports from Kansas and close examination of the crop seemed to show that falling had made no headway and that the outlook was more unfavorable than had been supposed. After opening 3/4 off to 3/4 up, the market here rose before beginning to react. Resides, field conditions were generally against the bears. Opening prices, which varied from 5/8 to one cent advance were followed by moderate additional upturns.

Oats took the same course as other grain. The feature was active short covering, presumably for a large speculation.

Lower quotations for hogs weakened provisions. Declines, however, were not of a radical sort.

American Duchess a Spy?

Friends of the Duchess Littavonost-Aresce, who was Miss Jessie Perry of Charleston, S. C., were astonished by her arrest with her husband in Venice, Italy, on the charge of espionage. They knew she was devoted to Italy and that both she and the duke were bitterly anti-Austrian. Influential Venetians vouched for the couple and they were released on bail. Their arrest was based solely on the fact they burned a small light in their hotel room the night Austrian aviators dropped nine bombs into Venice.

The duke, an author, is also known in New York City, where Putnam's published some of his books.

Why Milk Sours.

We are told by those who study the ways and rangles of the mischievous microbe that he is very fond of sugar and that he delights to gratify this liking by turning the supply in milk into an acid which sours the milk. These microbes are constantly in the air, alive though invisible, and ready to drop into the milk when they can. If it were possible to keep the milk from the air after the cow is milked it would not turn sour. Warm milk is particularly inviting to the microbe and favorable to his operations. He does not get along well under chilling conditions, and that is why the sweetness of milk can be preserved if it is kept cold. Boiling fresh milk changes the sugar in such a way that the microbe cannot feed upon it—Baltimore American.

Precious Manuscripts.

Considered one of the finest manuscripts in this country, the "Evangelistarium sive Lectiones ex Evangelis," illuminated and of French-Carolingian origin, may be seen in the New York Public Library. The manuscript is of vellum and consists of 200 leaves. Its date is set in the neighborhood of 870 A. D. The late twelfth and thirteenth centuries are also represented, and among the works from the fourteenth century is the oldest extant complete manuscript of the Wycliffe version of the New Testament in English.—Argonaut.

There's a Reason For Everything.

"Wouldn't you try to get a divorce from a woman who abused you and neglected your home and thought more of her club than she did of you?" thundered the big man.

"I don't think I would," replied Henry Peck. "I am afraid Henrietta would not let me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Coral Builders.

Coral reefs and islands are formed by the coral building polyp. These animals only live in clear water, the depth of which is not greater than twenty-five fathoms, and the temperature of which does not sink below 68 degrees F.

The Extreme Limit.

"How did your cake turn out, my dear?"

"Pretty badly, I fear. Even the children wouldn't have a second piece."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Secret.

"This is very confidential, Marian." "Yes, dear, I shall be most careful to whom I repeat it."—Philadelphia Ledger.

SEES DAYLIGHT AFTER 25 YEARS

Latest Nerv-Worth Endorsement Comes from Madison Town ship.

"Before taking Nerv-Worth my wife had doctored for 25 years and had bought all kinds of medicine for nervous disorders. For about a dozen times a day her stomach, at times would empty itself of nothing but water. She would get deathly sick. There was a jerking in her sleep that made her very restless. Appetite very poor, stomach much out of order. While taking one bottle of Nerv-Worth there was practically no vomiting—she threw up but twice in all that time, three weeks. Now she sleeps better, eats almost anything and digests it. She is better in every way. Feels so rested in the morning. Both my wife and I recommend Nerv-Worth to our friends."
